

James Jamieson has been a leading figure in the quarrying, construction, civil engineering, waste handling and recycling industries across the Grampian and Aberdeenshire regions.

James Jamieson is licensed with the Environment Agency to collect, recycle and dispose of all types of waste. Our expert team will advise you and prepare all necessary administration and consignment notes to make your job as simple as possible, including pre-approval and testing of your waste.

We work with our customers to evaluate the most appropriate method of disposal to keep costs down and ensure the minimum amount goes to landfill.
